Mr. Dayton, Mr. Johnson and Mr. George were in consultation for over two hours yesterday afternoon. Afterward Mr. Johnson said that only subjects of a routine character had been discussed. Mr. Johnson will probably leave here for Cleveland, Ohlo, to-day, for the purpose of registering, but will return at once to New-York.

NO COMPROMISE, SAYS GEORGE

When spoken to yesterday about the rumor that there was a possibility of a compromise between Tammany and the Jeffersonian Democracy, with W. J. Bryan as the mediator between contending factions, Mr. George said: "There are no factions in the Democratic party of New-York City. I stand for the Jeffersonian Democracy, which is the regular Democracy, and if Mr. Croker chooses to withdraw and go back to England I have no objections. I may die, but I shall never resign under any circumstances nor listen to any talk of com-

H. Martin Williams, of St. Louis, Mo., arrived here yesterday to help along the George campaign. He is a fluent speaker, and has been on the stump since Stephen A. Douglas ran for President in 1860. He says that he made more speeches for Cleveland than any other individual speaker, and that he regrets it.

He declared that he would receive nothing for his services here, the single-taxers of St. Louis having provided him with railroad fare, he assuming all other expenses.

MR. BLACK'S LETTER.

The following letter, which Henry George and the Campaign Committee value highly, was received yesterday from Chauncey F. Black, expresident of the National Association of Demomy Dear Mr. George: I have watched with eager attention every incident in New-York politics leading up to your nomination and last night's meeting. I see that you stand to conquer a broad field, whether you shall be elected Mayor or not. Such a campaign as you will make, and such a vote as you will poll, will command the respect of the United States and of the world, and if you fall to reach immediately the power which in your hands would prove a pure beneficence to mankind, you will fall only to rise again more potent than ever before, tike Jefferson and Bryan. If you do not enter the citadel at this assault, you will learound it with unbroken and growing hosts until a better day.

Your election would mark a new era of fresh hope for popular government. If it did not bring the solution, in the course of your administraction, of some of the darker problems of our social and political life, it would put them in process of solution under coaditions favorable to good results. With devoit good wishes for you and for these higher and better things you labor for, I am, as ever, sincerely yours. CHAUNCEY F. BLACK.

new until Election Day in the ranks of orcanized labor, and every tride in the city will, it is averred, organize George campaign clubs. "JIMMY" O'BRIEN SAD.

James O'Brien said to a Tribune reporter who saw him at the headquarter Democracy yesterday that he regretted very much the turn which the George movement had taken, and added that, as a result of the developments in the last week, the principles enunciated in the Chicago platform had received a serious setback. Later in the day the following statement was issued by the organization, signed by Henry Nichols, the president:

The United Democracy was organized by me who believe that the maintenance of the Chicag datform by the Democratic party is essential the preservation of our political institutions. The re in alignment with the Democracy of the rest of Nation Juiside of the city of New-York. The rinciples they advocate will control the next Democratic convention.

the Natior buisde of the city of New-York. The principles they advocate will control the next Democratic convention.

This organization is the only one that is made up of men who voted for W. J. Bryan last fall and who truly support the Chicago platform now. Its ticket has been nominated and, notwithstanding the fact that its first nominee for Mayor has deserted, to consort with monopolists, gold Democrats and disgruntled Republicans, and that others have fallen away, our ticket will remain in the field, and we shall still maintain the principles we know to be essential to the maintenance of free government, and which we believe will be successful in the next National election.

Yesterday Mr. Dayton rented a suite of apartments in the Albemarle Hotel, which he will use as his headquarters. He will open these head-quarters to-morrow morning.

MR. GEORGE UP IN HARLEM. HE MAKES THREE ADDRESSES AND RECALLS THE CAMPAIGN OF ELEVEN YEARS AGO.

Henry George last night rolled around the streets of Harlem in an open barouche, like any plutocrat, but he was out for business, not pleasure, and his but he was out for business, not pleasure, and his business was to address three assemblages of the faithful at as many meeting-places. The first speech of the evening was delivered from a stand which had been erected in One-hundred-andtwenty-first-st. about one hundred feet east Park-ave., in the front yard of a little house. The branches of a big tree spread over the stand, and from them awing in the evening breeze some Japanese lanterns, a string of which was stretched across the street. Wilbur Eastlake opened the meeting with a brief single-tax speech, and H. Martin Williams, of Missouri, spoke on the same lines, getting in a few words whenever the deafening roar of the railroad trains would permit and quoting in support of his contention authori ties all the way back to Pliny the Elder. Then Mi George was introduced, and the crowd of three hundred or four hundred which filled the street directly in front of the stand-and included a full delegation of "the babies on our block," and from several other blocks in the neighborhood-cheered him heartily. Mr. George spoke substantially as him heartily. Mr. George spake substantially as follows:

Friends, Neighbors, Fellow-Democrats: Men who eleven years ago were my friends and supporters in the great struggle for the Mayoralty of this city, that great struggle which frightened the platfortals and made them use every effort, every art and every resource that abundant means could bring to bear for what they called the saving of society—after eleven years I am here again. I am here at your order, to do your will, to lift the standard you have intrusted to my hards, the standard which at the beginning of this century was raised by Thomas Jefferson. At last what we have longed for and dreamed of has come to pass, and the Democracy of Thomas Jefferson, the only regular Democracy, has come to the front. I accept your mandate, I shall grasp that banner and move forward, if elected I shall be counted in, not counted out. I shall take the power; I shall obey the mandate; I shall use that power as it may honestly and legally be used by a man who believes unswervingly and unfaileringly that all men are created equal. I will do what I may to make this city not merely a place for the gathering of a few enormous fortunes, but a place which shall show the equality of mankind, a place which shall show the capatity of mankind, a place which shall show the elected, and, if elected, I shall be counted in. Friends, fellow-neighbors, old supporters, fellow-neighbors, old supporters, fellow-neighbors, old supporters, fellow-neighbors, to the standard of the rooster.

From this meeting Mr. George was driven to One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st, near Lexington-ave., where, at one of the two or three small outings, held in connection with the mass door meetings, held in connection with the mass-meeting in Majestic Hall, he spoke for a moment or two from his carriage, in part as follows: "I raise my hat to the coming again of the Democracy of Thomas Jefferson, the Democracy that has been

Black, holds the lucrative place of president of some offices in the Hutchinson Building, in Washington, and the funds which have provided for all this being furnished by Tom Johnson, makes it clear why Mr. Black has given his in dersement to Henry George. Mr. George and Mr. Black have been for years rabbi free-traders, and this recalls the story of the Speakership fight in Washington in 1890. Henry George was a conspleuous figure in that fight. He enthusiastically supported Roger Q. Mills, and bitterly opposed Charles F. Crisp. The reason for George's bitterness toward Crisp is because the George's bitterness to be common to the control of the many the custom-houses." At the beginning of the fight Mr. Black, on account of his environments at York, Penn. was not inclined to take an active part, but Mr. George finally succeeded in railing him to the support of Mills. Crisp was twice elected Speaker, and by his efficient action completely satisfied all true tariff reformers."

his efficient action completely satisfied all true tariff reformers."

The Tammany Hall Law Committee yesterday completed an examination of the Henry George nominating petition. It was reported that many flaws and irregularities were found, and sufficient boxus signatures to justify the committee in endeavoring to knock out the petition, but "the judgment of the organization was that George is not considered sufficiently dangerous to cause the committee to make the endeavor." That is the way the Tammany press agent put it.

HARMONY WITH A VENGEANCE. SMALL AUDIENCE IN CARNEGIE HALL LEARNS HOW WELL THE DEMOCRATIC UNION

HAS DONE ITS WORK. the Democratic party has been divided and subpresent campaign, the Democratic Union, formed, in its own words, "for the purpose of bringing to-gether the Democrats of the Greater New-York," held a ratification meeting last evening at Carnegle Lieutenant-Governor of Pennsylvania, and Hall, and told the small audience there assembled to order, which was not a difficult task (the meeting was lamblike in its serenity), he proceeded to Robert A. Van Wyck, and prophesied limitless success for the Democratic cause in November. He finished by introducing Robert B. Roosevelt to act as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Roosevelt was neartily welcomed.

Mr. Roosevelt made one of his characteristic admitted, however, that the streets had been made clean, and he said that if Mayor Van Wyck didn't keep them so he would tell him what he thought of him. He added, however, that it had cost lots of money, and that Tammany could have cleaned the streets with the same amount. "They used to accuse Tammany of extravagance," he said. "Now they accuse Tammany of unwise penuriousness." This he said, forgetting that, as Mr. Low said, nobody had ever accused Tammany of hesitating to spend money where it would do Tammany good. Mr. Roosevelt proceeded to denounce the course of the Republican Legislature in delivering New-York City into the hands of the rest of the State, and he wound up by declaring that Van Wyck would surely be the next Mayor.

Mr. Jackson then nominated an extensive list

Perry Beimont was introduced as the first speaker, and was warmly received out of decrence to both him and the torridity of the evening. Mr. Belmont spoke at length, culogizing the Tammany candidates and the Tammany platform, which, he said, defied adverse criticism. Mr. Belmont declared that Mr. Low regarded the Mayoralty of the Greater New-York as the stepping-stone to the Presidency, and that General Tracy was making the fight for McKinley's renomination, in closing, Mr. Belmont denounced the non-partisan idea in city government, and said that the reform the city had been having was a shain.

KANSAS POPULISTS HELP GEORGE. RAISING A CAMPAIGN FUND TO SEND TO THIS

CITY. Topeka, Kan., Oct. 16.-The Henry George campaign fund has been swelled by a good contribu-tion from Kansau Populists. A dozen towns are raising funds to forward to New-York. The little town of Hartford has sent $25 and will forward more. All petitions bear this heading: "We bemore. All petitions bear this heading: "We behave that Henry George stands for principle, for freedom, for equal rights to all men, not only for the citizens of Greater New-York or the State of New-York or the United States but for the world. Our contributions are small, from the fact that during our struggle for existence we have been compelled to give one-third of our total productions to the incident of expeculator holding land title, one-third to railroads, telegraph lords, coal lords, oil lords and mineral lords, and a large part of what was left has been taken for taxes and tribute to trusts and syndicates."

JIMOBRIEN NOMINATIONS PROPOSED. The United Democracy (Jimobriens) last night decided to make these nominations: Julius Bernstibe, for Register; John C. Bunker, for City Court Judge, and Lr. Thomas Broman, for Coroner, James A. Gray has withdrawn his resignation as the candidate for District-Attorney.

THE CONTROLLERSHIP CONTEST.

Because of information received from widely different parts of the Greater New-York territory, politicians are figuring on a vote for Controller Fitch largely in excess of what some headquarters mathematicians were disposed to accord to him before Charles W. Dayton accepted the George nomination for the office for which Mr. Fitch has been named for re-election. Mr. Dayton's entrance upon the canvass has had the effect of directing public attention to the great importance of the office of Controller and the importance of the which exists for selecting a man of experience and its first financial voyage. Mr. Fitch's record in the last four years as the chief financial officer of New-York City is pointed to with satisfaction by his friends, and comparison is invited with the unknown quantity which Mr. Croker has put before the people in the person of the Tammany candidate, Bird S, Coler, The friends of Mr. Fitch assert that business men and taxpayers, when eatled upon to choose between Controller Fitch and Mr. Coler, will not bestiate to cast their halless and use their influence for Mr. Fitch, without regard to party affiliations.

A well-known business man who always votes the Democratic ticket, and can usually be relied upon by the Democratic managers for material assistance in the campaign, said yesterday.

"My observation satisfies me that the tide is mining strongly toward Mr. Fitch in the Controllership contest, Mr. Croker made a blunder in not placing Fitch on the ticket, and he must already see that it is stupendous and very damaging. All that was needed to emphasize this lidender was to have proper attention called to he and that Mr. Dayton's canvaiss will do most successfully. I predict Mr. Fitch's election by a handsome plurality.

I NEWSBOY KILLED BY A CABLE-CAR. Alfred Ludwig, thirteen years old, a newsboy, whose parents live at No. 240 East One-hundred and-twenty-first-st., lost his life last night by falling in front of a cable-car in East One-hundred-and twenty-fifth-st. The accident happened about two hundred feet west of Third-ave. At 630 o'clock, when the accident happened, the junction of the two streets was crowded. Half a hundred or more newshoys ran to and fro in the crowd disposing of their papers, and jumping off and on cars, ohlivious of the risk they were taking.

Cable-car No. 493, with William Reynolds, of No. 1,62 Amsterdam-ave, as gripman, had just passed over Third-ave, and stopped on the west side of the avenue to take on a large crowd of passengers. The conductor gave the go-ahead signal, and the car started with a jerk. Just at that minute Alfred Ladwig and several other newshoys started and-twenty-first-st., lost his life last night by fall-

DEATH OF MISS MARY POOLE.

Miss Poole lived happily with her maiden sisters for the best part of a century, and yet no one ever heard her express the least regret because she had been unclaimed by a mate of the sterner sex. And it is the same with her sisters, Miss Hannah and Miss Emily who survive her.

The cause of Miss Mary's death was old age and heart disense. She was born in New-York City on December 22, 1894, and her father moved with his family to Brooklyn in 1842. He was one of the founders, it is said, of the Mechanics Bank, in Broadway, and of the time of his death was its treasurer. Twenty years ago Miss Poole and her sisters, Hannah and Emily, moved into the Pacificst, house, where she died.

Miss Mary was a teacher for several years in the private school of Miss Betsey Oram, in New-York and many women now gray-haired may remember that when they were girls she looked after their wants in a most motherly way. She was a diligent reader of the newspapers, and in her younger days took a most active interest in current affairs. She was a personal friend of Horace Greeley, and was a bette tell a number of anedotes of him. reader of the newspapers, and in her younger days took a most active interest in current affairs. She was a personal friend of Horace Greeley, and was able to tell a number of anecdotes of him.

Lately the infirmities incident to extreme age prevented her from engaging in as many plensures along intellectual lines as formerly.

The tuneral will take place to-morrow night at the house, and the officiating clerkyman will be the Rev. George H. Huntington, of Newburg, an old friend of Miss Poole. The burial will be in the family plot in Greenwood on Tuesday morning.

She is alone in the world, but has hitherto been able to make her way. The society also appeals for a pension of $25 a month for one year to sup-port a widow, with three children under twelve. She has recently been operated on for cancer, and While her health allowed, she did all she could to support her family, but dire necessity compels her to appeal for aid. Money for either case sent to the Charity Organization Society, No. 165 East Twenty-second-st., will be promptly and publicly

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

The Flemish Quarter.

Tis a region enchanted, where you may lotter and learn to conjuse schemes of unexpected picturesqueness. For the dining-room, delightful pieces in dark, unpolished oak. Sideboards whose cellaret doors have panels cut into their faces, with curious scrolls and figures in low relief. Tables with legs connected by odd, curved pieces like modern Tyrol specimens. A variety of the hanging and draperies of Flanders to complete the All perfectly suited to modern needs, yet oddly artistic and at factory prices, as you "BUY OF THE MAKER"
